Communication My profession leads me to relate with many people, especially entrepreneurs, top managers and representatives of institutions. I also do a lot of training and public presentations. In particular, I am a trainer, on behalf of Giuffrè Francis Lefebvre, in training courses on blockchain, smart contracts, cryptocurrencies and Initial Coin Offerings.

Therefore, I have acquired the ability to listen and understand the basic psychological traits of my interlocutor in order to adapt language, tone and concepts, including the interposition of moments of deflection and simplification.

Organizational skills The legal profession has allowed me to manage time and organize days and activities with precise deadlines and often under pressure due to sudden emergencies.

The institutional associative roles put me in a leadership role, also with team-building purposes, and as a conference organizer.

Professional skills I assist many new projects (start-ups or SMEs) and I find myself having to provide much broader strategic advice than specific legal assistance, sometimes as a mentor.

In such contexts, however, I have developed teamwork skills.

I am involved in training and dissemination, in public and private events, on blockchain issues.
